Sentinel Development Solutions Inc. (eCollections) Announces Native Omni-Channel Contact Support and integrated Signing Solution

Integrate SMS Messaging and Signing Solutions Highlight Collection Software Platform's Strengths

Sentinel Development Solutions Inc. recently announced their 'Best In Class' integrated omni-channel contact strategy support and document signing solution. The latest incarnation of Sentinel's enterprise collections platform addresses two of the main challenges facing collectors – modern contact strategies and coordinated processes to ensure compliance but also maximize the probability that consumers complete payment plans; "eCollections will support a wide variety of approaches that businesses employ to contact consumers, create and monitor payment plans, and maintain consistent contact with the consumer during the life of the resolution of the debt with features like automatic payment reminders", says Tim Cain, CEO of Sentinel. "All of this is native to eCollections which reduces cost and simplifies things making it incredibly easy for agents and managers to track and optimize strategies. We've had these features in production for several months and can report that the results have been fantastic."
